

There is an old saying among lawyers that "reason is the soul of law." If the reason for the law changes, then naturally the law should change. If anything, the events of the past 20 years dictate that these laws should be strengthened, not abandoned. The FCC is being extremely short-sighted in pushing to weaken these rules. I suppose this is to be expected from such a short-sighted administration, but the FCC has a responsibility to the people which supercedes paltry party politics.

Please, please, please don't do this. I know you are all smart people. Please think about what this means, think about what America means, and I am sure that you will realize that the two are antithetical.

Thank you,
